Carrie, Financial Advisor at Merrill Lynch, specializes in achieving financial security for women and their families. Money is more than numbers, it allows us to achieve goals for ourselves, our family and our business."

Carrie's desire to help others developed during her previous career in non-profit fundraising. Carrie holds an M.B.A. in Management from Wright State University and BS degrees in both Business and Psychology from Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant Michigan.

Volunteering is an important part of Carrie's life. She is currently a trustee on the Board of Directors for Learning Tree Farm and a proud member of the Kettering Noon Optimist Club.

Carrie lives in Centerville with her husband Dudley and 15 year-old son Austin. Her favorite activities include hiking, camping, knitting, golfing and trying a new wine.
